

A point-and-beam KeyBox

Supra's infrared KeyBox is flexible and secure. Infrared technology eliminates the need for specific key shapes and physical contact points. Communication with the iBox is accomplished by pointing an infrared key at the box from a distance of up to three feet. When the iBox is successfully opened, a message appears on the screen of the key instructing the user to push up on the bottom of the key container for easy release.

A smart design

The iBox fits better behind a screen door and on more door types than older lockboxes. Versatility means easy installation and saving time. Even though the iBox is smaller in size, the key container is larger, accommodating more listing keys.

A secure lockbox you can trust

Knowing your lockboxes are smart and secure puts your clients at ease. The iBox is easily accessible to authorized agents, even in the worst weather, yet the solid construction is very resistant to attack.

- Works with any Supra infrared key.
- Open architecture for future enhancements.

Using the iBox to help market properties

The iBox offers different hours for weekday showings versus Saturday or Sunday. Listing agents can provide clients with showing times that best fit their schedule.

Electronic notes, flyers and business cards are stored in the iBox for showing agents. Leaving an alarm code or "beware of big dog in basement" can ensure a smooth showing and result in higher client/seller satisfaction.

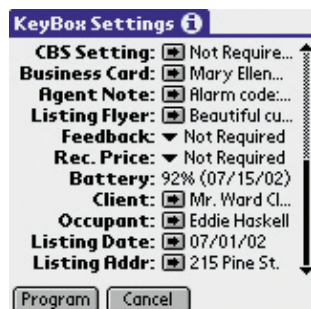

The iBox is compatible with a large variety of PDAs and smartphones as well as Supra's entry level DisplayKEY.
